PEOPLE'S PRESS.

SALEM, N. C.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1865

We notice that some of our State papers, which were hopeful a short time since, are rather desponding since the result of the Northern elections has become known, fearing from the tone of some of the papers in that section and the large increased majority of the Republican party, that the South has no favors to expect; but that, on the other hand, there is a growing disposition to render the sufferings and privations of the Southern people still more intolerable, if possible.

We are disposed to look upon the result of the Northern elections merely as a triumph of the Republican over the Democratic party,—the outs were striving to get in, and those in power were for holding on, that's all.

We cannot believe that now, since the masses of the Southern people, bitterly repenting of the folly of the secession movement into which they were dragged by designing men, are ready and willing to accommodate themselves to circumstances, desiring peace and pacification upon fair terms, will be spurned by their Northern brethren, and not permitted to "go home" as they sincerely desire to do.

President Johnson, chosen by the North and West as Vice President, and by the death of President Lincoln succeeding to the Presidency, has been just and magnanimous towards the South, and we hope Congress will also show a disposition to forget the past, and assist the President in his policy of speedy reconstruction, at least throwing no obstacles in the way.

We hope that the gloomy forebodings entertained by some will not be realized, and that the feelings and sentiments of a large portion of the Northern people, who are satisfied with the result of the war and now entertain friendly feelings towards the South, will be duly represented in Congress, and that the counsels and influence of good and patriotic men will prevail.

The masses of the South are satisfied, and desire peace and harmony throughout the land, henceforth and forever. We hope the ensuing Congress will not prove as radical, so called, as some predict, and that the victorious party will show that magnanimity which is generally conceded to a fallen foe, upon proper acknowledgements being made.

Since the above was written, we have seen extracts from Northern papers, representing the contest in the Northern elections not one for principle, but solely for the spoils.

The New York News says: "Between their platforms the oldest politicians could not distinguish the difference; and the antecedents of the candidates were as much alike as the platforms upon which they stood. The contest was, therefore, one for place and not for principle."

The only practical result is to continue for a while longer the Republican or Union organization.

☞ The Provisional Governor's were requested to hold on, we presume, until the respective State Legislatures decide upon the Constitutional Amendment relative to the abolition of slavery. The following is the letter from Secretary Seward to Gov. Holden upon the subject, which we copy from the Standard:—

[DUPLICATE]

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
WASHINGTON, February 2, 1865.

To his Excellency, the Governor of the State of North Carolina, Raleigh, N. C.

SIR:—I transmit an attested copy of a Joint Resolution of Congress, approved on the 1st instant, proposing to the Legislatures of the several States a Thirteenth Article to the Constitution of the United States. Your Excellency is requested to cause the decision of the Legislature of North Carolina to be taken upon the subject. An acknowledgment of the receipt of this communication is requested by your Excellency's

Most obedient Servant,
F. W. SEWARD,
Acting Secretary.

[DUPLICATE]

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

To all whom these Presence shall come, Greeting:

I certify, that annexed is a true copy of "A Joint Resolution submitting to the Legislatures of the several States a Proposition to amend the Constitution of the United States," approved February 1, 1865, the original of which is on file in this Department.

In testimony whereof, I, William H. Seward, Secretary of State of the United States, have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the seal of the Department of State to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this second day of February, A. D. 1865, and of the Independence of the United States of America the eighty-ninth. WILL. H. SEWARD.

RESOLUTION

Submitting to the Legislature of the several States a Proposition to amend the Constitution of the United States.

Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, [two thirds of both Houses concurring,] That the following article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three-fourths of said Legislatures, shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as part of the said constitution, namely:

ARTICLE XIII.

SEC. 1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

SEC. 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Approved February 1, 1865.

NORTHERN ELECTIONS.—Many of the Northern States voted on Tuesday of last week, and the Republicans triumphed every where, though the vote is said to have been unusually small.

In New York State the Republican majority will be from 15,000 to 25,000, while in New York city the Democratic majority has dwindled down from 50,000 to 25,000.

New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Minesota, and Maryland have gone Republican, for Congress, and State Legislatures.

DAVIDSON COUNTY.—The small vote cast in Davidson County, at the late election, is a matter of surprise and conjecture. We have been assured that it was not generally known in portions of the county, where the people have no mail facilities, that an election was to be held, and this may account for the small vote, in some degree, in Davidson as well as in other counties, especially where leading men, apparently, took but little interest in the election.

BUSINESS REVIVING.—We are glad to see that business seems to be gradually reviving in this place. Our Merchants are beginning to have a considerable trade from the upper counties and surrounding country, and our streets daily present quite a lively appearance. Our country friends seem also to be in better spirits, and what they lack most now, is—plenty of greenbacks!

Our advertising columns exhibit weekly an array of new advertisements,—all of which indicates renewed life and energy.

The election returns from Stokes as we received them, foot up as follows:

For Governor.—Holden 452; Worth 265.
For Congress.—Brown 386; Hanes 169.
Senate.—Matthews 405; Boner 119.

SUBSCRIBE NOW.—The news during the winter will be highly interesting; and as we will lay everything of interest that may transpire, before our readers, now is a good time to subscribe for the Press.

The State Legislature and the National Congress will soon be in session, and their proceedings will be unusually interesting. The Press will give all the proceedings of general interest.

SYNOD.—The Synod of the United Brethren's Church, (Moravian,) of the Southern Province, convened in this place, on Tuesday last. The session will probably be a protracted one, as considerable business of importance is to be transacted.

THE WAR IN SOUTH AMERICA.—The bark Catherine Mauve, has arrived at Boston with Buenos Ayres dates to September 23, being eleven days later. The war between the allied powers and Paraguay still continued. The former had recently gained an important victory, having captured the town of Uruguayna and 5,000 Paraguayan prisoners, after a siege of six weeks. The prisoners were immediately disposed of by being drafted into the allied army to fight against their countrymen. The victory caused great rejoicing at Buenos Ayres.

THE OYSTER TRADE OF NORFOLK.—The oyster trade of Norfolk is getting to be quite an item. The Boston steamers on their days of departure take from twelve to fifteen hundred barrels, the New York steamers quite as many, and the Philadelphia steamers several hundred barrels. The two lines of Baltimore steamers take daily about one thousand barrels upon a fair average.

A curious phenomena occurred in the Valley of Mexico on the 6th of October. Five large streams of water burst suddenly from the sides of the mountain, which, if they do not diminish in volume, will form a considerable river.

Eight thousand six hundred and fifty bales of cotton have been shipped from Charlotte, North Carolina, to Raleigh, from the begining of May to the end of September.

The receipts at the Internal Revenue Bureau for the month, amounted to $30,457,983, 03, being an average per diem of $982,515 58.

The receipts for customs in New York during the month of October amounted to the unprecedented sum of $10,000,000 in gold.

G. W. Perry, in his recent message to the Legislature of South Carolina, maintains that there is no power in Congress to exclude the South Carolina representatives from their seats. He contends that the test oath is unconstitutional.

THE JAMAICA INSURRECTION.—Havana advices received at New York, Nov. 26th, state that a negro rebellion was progressing in Jamaica.—At Kingston great excitement prevailed, business was suspended, and the entire population in a state of defence.

Later advices say that Gordon and Bogle principal insurrectionist leaders had been caught and were being tried by a court martial. The people are dispirited since their capture. No further apprehensions are felt of further troubles.

Many negro prisoners are taken. Eighty-one are already sentenced to death, and a large portion of them have been executed already.

The brutalities perpetrated by the negroes are represented as shocking in the extreme, as they were short-lived.

The Paris French correspondent of the London Times says, it is generally reported in Paris that the French army in Mexico will be withdrawn by instalments by August or September 1866, all of it will have returned to France. This resolution is said to be adopted, not only from the desire to afford no reasonable ground of complaint on the part of the United States, but also on economical grounds.

It is stated that the authority can be regular army will not exceed a total of 50,000 men.

The drainage filth of London, is estimated to be worth fifteen million pounds of gold yearly.

Mr. Orr, and not Mr. Hampton has been elected Governor of South Carolina.

Washington Items—Wirt Hung.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—A dispatch has been received at the Treasury Department announcing the death from accidental gun-shot wound of William Johnson, only brother of the President and late collector of Velasco, Texas.

Wirt was executed this morning. He died without exhibiting emotion or fear, and protesting his innocence.

The findings of the court convicting him included in the charge of conspiracy the names of Davis, Seddon, Cobb and Wyndham.

Hurricane at Gaudaloupe.

A most disastrous hurricane occurred at Gaudaloupe on the 6th inst. In Grand Bourge, the town of Marie Galante, many houses were torn up and blown away piecemeal to considerable distances. Stones and shards of zinc flew about in all directions. The public hospital was blown down, killing or wounding the inmates. In the quarter of Grande Bourge alone thirty-six persons were killed and fifty nine wounded. Basseterre and Sainte also suffered dreadfully.

Since the above it appears the devastation and loss of life was still greater than we at first supposed. The loss of life is now stated between two and three hundred. The crops of the island have been destroyed, and scarcely a tree is to be seen standing. Many vessels, too, are missing. Beyond a heavy sea and heavy gale the hurricane was not felt in the other West India Islands.

THE CUBAN SLAVE TRADE.—Intelligence from the city of Havanah shows that a cargo of eight hundred Africans was recently landed in the harbor of San Cristobal. There was a pretence of a seizure by the Government officials, but only one hundred and forty seven of the whole number were really rescued. The others were run off and sold. The traffic is carried on through the connivance of some of the authorities, who share the profits with the slave traders. The men who "back" the trade are among the millionaires of the island. The present Captain-General is to be removed on the 15th of this month, partly, it is said, on account of his being compromised in the slave trade.

The annual report of the sixth Auditor of the Treasury for the Post Office Department, has been completed, and was submitted to the Postmaster General Friday. It exhibits the financial transactions of the Post Office Department for the last fiscal year, and shows what has never occured before in the existence of the Government, that the department has been self-sustaining, and that the excess of receipts over the expenditures amounts to the great sum of $861,000.

METHODIST CENTENNIAL.—The Methodists are inaugurating measures for the celebration of the centennial anniversary of American Methodism, which occurs in the early part of the coming year, although the American Methodist Episcopal Church, as a separate and distinct organization did not exist until Christmas Day, 1784, when at a conference, called for the purpose, at Baltimore, the preachers assumed the title of a church.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10th.

The Secretary of State to-day telegraphed Gov. Perry to continue to exercise the functions of his office in South Carolina until relieved by the President's orders. He says he regrets that neither the Convention nor Legislature has repudiated the war debt, and that South Carolina seems to decline the Congressional amendment to the federal Constitution abolishing slavery. Yesterday Secretary Seward telegraphed Gov. Perry, for the President, that an early adoption of the amendment is deemed peculiarly important, and especially desirable with reference to the general situation of the Union. The President's opinion, heretofore expressed, remains unchanged.

To-day members of the late North Carolina Convention and other gentlemen from that State, visited the President. Hon. E. G. Reade in behalf of the Convention, told the President what the Convention had done, including the declaring null and void the ordinance of secession, the passage of the ordinance prohibiting slavery, and the repudiation of the debt contracted in aid of the rebellion; that the Convention asks Congress to repeal the test oath and that it was thought that this request should pass through the President's hands, with the hope that his magnanimity would aid it with some reflections which would avail with Congress. The President in a reciprocating, conciliatory spirit, said North Carolina had done much, yet it remains to render restoration practicable that she accept the Congressional anti-slavery amendment to the Constitution, and as practically important to successful restoration so much desired. This action must depend upon events, and that Gov. Holden will again be instructed to continue to exercise his functions as Governor until relieved by orders to that effect.

The following despatch has been received by Governor Holden.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11, 1865.

To his Excellency W. W. Holden:

The President directs me to say that he expects you to continue in the exercise of the functions of Provisional Governor of North Carolina until you shall have been relieved by directions from him.

(Signed.) WM. H. SEWARD.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 4.—2 P. M.—Gov. Sharkey has just received a dispatch from Secretary Seward, announcing that he is expected to exercise the functions of Governor of Mississippi until further orders from Washington.

Mississippi.

Complexion of Affairs in the State—Governor Humphreys issues a proclamation urging immediate organization of the Militia.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 4.—Matters in this State are assuming a threatening attitude. Gov. Humphreys has issued a proclamation urging the immediate organization of volunteer militia companies, and the Legislature is memorializing the President to remove the United States troops and release Jeff. Davis.

Frightful Condition of things in Mexico.

The empire brings no peace to Mexico. From the copious details of Mexican news, that unfortunate country was never so near the worst condition of anarchy as it is at this time. It is the condition of East Tennessee during the reign of the rebellion there. Neither age nor sex, combatants or non-combatants, are safe against the armed foreign mercenaries of Maximillian and their local confederates. The liberal armies, beaten and dispersed by superior forces and superior arms, have re appeared in the shape of bands of guerrillas, operating over the whole country; and here and there an exposed detachment of French, Austrians or Belgians are frequently surprised and routed. To put an end to this harassing style of hostilities, Maximilian has issued his decree for the extermination of his enemies found in arms, including the execution of those taken as prisoners. The result has been to make the war on the part of the liberals a war of the black flag. Thus it appears that the five French officers lately captured by them and put to death "were sacrificed according to Maximilian's own method of doing business." And this is the work of amelioration inaugurated by the representative of Louis Napoleon against a people whose country he has seized and by whose consent and for whose benefit he claims to govern them.

Suffering among the Freedmen at Washington.—The National Freedmen's Association of the District of Columbia have published an appeal, earnestly calling upon the people of the North and the friends of humanity generally to come forward and aid them in their efforts to relieve the suffering people in and around the National Capital. The following is an extract:

"Owing to this pressure destitution, the most frightful mortality exists, as many as eighty coffins per week being furnished by the Quartermaster's Department, most of which are for children. It is the opinion of physicians practising among them, and of others observers, that three-fourths of those children die from neglect and want. In the family of a soldier who lost his life in battle, five out of the ten children have died since March, 1865, from the above causes. In another house, seven children of a soldier died in December last, have starved to death, while the last three months. The mothers in both cases, were prostrated with fever, and all their peoples were unwell and entirely out of means."

Over seven hundred immigrants per day arrived from Europe at New York during the past week.

Southern railroad companies have purchased two hundred million dollars worth of locomotives.

National Thanksgiving.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas it has pleased Almighty God, during the year which is now coming to a close, to relieve our beloved country from the fearful scourge of civil war, and to permit us to renew the blessings of peace, unity and harmony, with great enlargement of civil liberty.

And whereas our Heavenly Father has also, during the year, graciously averted from us the calamities of foreign war, pestilence and famine, while our granaries are full of the fruits of an abundant season;

And whereas righteousness exalteth a nation, while sin is a reproach to any people:

Now, therefore, be it known that I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do hereby recommend, to the people thereof that they do set apart and observe the first Thursday of December next as a day of National Thanksgiving to the Creator of the Universe for these great deliverances and blessings.

And I do further recommend that on that occasion the whole people make confession of our national sins against His infinite goodness, and with one heart and one mind implore the Divine guidance in the ways of national virtue and holiness.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

SEAL

Done in the city of Washington on this twenty-eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five and of the independence of the United States the ninetieth.

WILLIAM H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

Death of Dr. Worcester.—Dr. Joseph Emerson Worcester the well known American lexicographer, died yesterday at his residence in Cambridge, aged 81 years. Dr. Worcester was a native of Bedford, N. H., where he was born Aug. 24, 1784. He graduated at Yale College in 1811, and for several years afterward taught in Salem. While there he prepared the greater part of his "Geographical Dictionary, or Universal Gazetteer," which appeared, in 2 vols., in Andover in 1817, and was followed by a "Gazetteer of the United States," (Andover, 1818,) and a number of other works on Geography and History. Dr. Worcester's first effort in the field of English lexicography was "Johnson's English Dictionary as improved by Todd and abridged by Chalmers, with Walker's Pronouncing Dictionary combined," which appeared in 1827. In 1828 he edited, at the request of the publisher of Webster's Dictionary, an abridgment of that work. In the following years several Dictionaries were published by him in succession, until he gave to the public, in 1860, his chief work, "A Dictionary of the English Language," the ripe fruit of more than 40 years of lexicographical studies. Dr. Worcester was also, from 1834 to 1845 inclusive, the literary editor of the "American Almanac." He received the degree of L. L. D. from the Brown University and Dartmouth College, was a Fellow of the American Academy of Science, a Corresponding Member of the London Geographical Society in London, and a member of other learned bodies.

What Mr. Lincoln's Policy would have been.

Gen. Duff Green has written a letter in which he says:

"After the fall of Richmond I saw President Lincoln there. He told me that he came to Washington resolved to carry out in good faith the pledges that he gave to meet Springfield, viz: that, as President, he would favor no measure of which the South would have cause to complain; and that it was upon his recommendation that the constitutional amendment, proposed by Mr. Corwin as a substitute for the one offered by Mr. Adams, of Massachusetts, was adopted by his friends in Congress, as follows:

"That no amendment shall be made to the constitution which will authorize or give Congress power to abolish, or interfere, within any State, with domestic institutions thereof, including persons held to labor or servitude by the laws of said State.

"In reply to an appeal which I made to him for peace, President Lincoln's words were, in substance as follows:

"If you want peace, come back into the Union. If you wish to keep your slaves, come in and vote as States, against the constitutional amendment, abolishing slavery. I cannot forbid my proclamations. It will be for the courts to decide whether they are law or not.—Of that you must judge. But I have the pardoning power, and will use it freely."

This conversation was in the presence of Gen. Weitzel, Judge Campbell, late of the Supreme Court, one of Gen. Weitzel's aids, and several others, and I was told, and believe that in consequence of the conversation held with Judge Campbell and my self, and the others then given to us, President Lincoln in a letter addressed to General Weitzel, authorized the meeting of the Virginia Legislature, according to the notice subsequently issued in the Richmond papers.

THE ROBBERS' CAVE UNDER THE CITY OF NASHVILLE—A TRUE STORY.—The following local item in the Nashville Times seems to have been the basis for the extraordinary romance telegraphed from Nashville on Saturday:

"As the cave mystery has gotten into print, and as a vast amount of curiosity is evinced regarding it, we will state, so far as known, what foundation there is for the exaggerated reports flying about. Near the cemetery, to the right of Summer street, on the railroad, is the entrance to sort of a cave, from which the military authorities are slowly removing earth, which is probably thrown up by parties inside. A person who was knocked down and robbed, it is alleged, made the discovery that his assailants entered the opening, and communicated to the authorities the hiding place of a gang of villains.

"At any rate the military have a guard over the spot, and are excavating the place, and guards are placed over one or two private vaults in the cemetery which are supposed to communicate with this under ground hiding-place. It was rumored last night that a man had broken from one vault and escaped, although fired at by the guard. All sorts of stories are prevalent regarding the existence of caves beneath the city—the retiring places of Murrell and his gang. However, up to the present writing, nothing definite has been developed. The veritable circumstances of the case revive a great many stories of the subterranean Nashville, that quite astonish those addicted to the marvellous."

NASHVILLE, Oct. 28, 1865.—Parties have for several days past been exploring the subterranean passage under the city.

Mr. A. Overpeck descended one hundred and twenty-five feet from a cavern under Church street into a cavern below, and was drawn out almost suffocated by foul air.

Several relics were discovered, including fossils, bones, buttons, and stones resembling agate and marble.

The grand chamber of the cave is forty feet high, thirty feet wide, and eighty long. In

LOOK OUT FOR COUNTERFEITS.—Counterfeits of low denominations have made their appearance since the first of September. They are an exact imitation of the genuine. 50s and 100s the same as photographed—paper stiffer than the genuine, and not so good. They have a blurred appearance, while the signatures show through the note plainly that on the good note. 10s altered from 1s; vig on upper left over portrait of Chase; 10 below it; 10 on upper right, the signature of both Register and Treasurer are on the lower right corner, they are well done and calculated to deceive the unwary, although nothing like the genuine, which have for a vig, a spread eagle with 10 each side on the left side is the portrait of President Lincoln, on the right end a full length female figure; the signature of the Register is on the lower left, and that of the Treasurer on the lower right. 50s altered from 2s, in the genuine 50s the signature of the Register is on the left, and the Treasurer on the right; in the altered note they are both on the right end, with two stripes of lath between them. Is, imitation of genuine. The green ink is somewhat lighter than the genuine; some parts of the note are scratched.—The head of Chase is darker. The bill has a coarse appearance. 2s altered from 1s; portrait of Chase on upper left corner.

U. S. Compound Interest Note.—An exact imitation of the $100 note, well executed and calculated to deceive any but the most experienced.

U. S. Treasury Notes—10s, well executed, appear to be from a new plate.

Legal Tender Notes, "Greenbacks."—$20 notes have made their appearance.
